STOLEN HORSE FOUND ON ROAD EARLY THIS MORNING

Taken While Young Couple Were Attending Dancing School

HAD BEEN DRIVEN HARD

Well Nigh Exhausted When Caught by I. E Meyers, Near Robt. Gibson's Farm

After having been stolen from where it was hitched on Washington avenue near Fifth street and driven hard a part of the night, a valuable horse, belonging to Jehu Cooper of Fallowfield township, was found standing on the road near the farm of Robert Gibson near Bentleyville this morning, well nigh exhausted. The horse had been driven into Charleroi last night by Mr. Cooper's son, Lynn, and his sister, Miss Nanna, and tied, while they attended dancing school. The horse and buggy were both taken.

The couple had no knowledge of their horse and buggy being gone until they left dancing school late in the evening. After discovering their loss a search was made over town, but without results. Officer Alva Osborne was notified but could do nthing. Finally Cooper and his sister were driven home by James Blythe of Washington avenue in the latter's rig.

The animal was discovered this morning by I. E. Meyers, and at once taken home. The theft is attributed to some people living in the neighborhood of Bentleyville, who it is alleged have committed other similar offenses during the past winter.

BRAVE MAN THIS: T. L. KENNEDY OUT FOR CONGRESS

Willing to Take Step Which Other Politicians Shied at.

THINGS HE WANTS TO DO

T. L. Kennedy of New Brighton, Beaver county, a former member of the General Assembly, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-fourth district, composed of the counties of Washington, Beaver and Lawrence. This is the district represented by Congressman J. K. Tener of Charleroi, who is also a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Kennedy is a prominent manufacturer in the Beaver valley. His platform is said to cover many subjects, the chief one of which is an attack on "Cannonism."

IMPERIAL NOW RUNNING FULL

Better Records Being Made This Year at Bottle Plant.

PAY WILL TOTAL $175,000

Two Tanks in Steady Operation, and Orders Are Rapidly Coming In.

The Imperial Bottle factory will this year, is expected, much surpass the record made last year in production of ware and amount of money paid out to employes. The total pay for the several months since the starting of the fall fire has surpassed that of the previous year for the same length of time, and the production has correspondingly increased.

At the first of May, 1909, the total pay had reached the $100,000 mark. This year April 1 will see that climax. The entire pay during the nine months of operation in 1909 was $155,000. This year, if everything goes right from now on, the total pay by the time the plant closes for the summer July 1, will have been $175,000.

The Imperial plant is now working full time, with about 300 men and boys employed. There are two tanks in operation, for the manufacture of two colors of glass, flint and amber. The factory has been in steady operation since September of last year, when it started following the summer close down, and from the way orders are coming in the run will continue.

REAL ESTATE AGENT IS AFTER EVIDENCE REGARDING HOUSES

One of the real estate agencies in town is being annoyed by an anonymous letter writer, who accuses the agency of renting a builing for immoral purposes, and demanding that the alleged nuisance be abated. The agency, with the aid of the police, has investigated and found no evidence of the charge, but the letters continue. Both the agency and the police will be thankful for any evidence that will substantiate the charges.

People Are Asking Who Will Win—The End in Sight, With But Three More Days Yet to Go

ARE YOU GOING TO SECURE A BIG PRIZE?

Standing of the Leaders.

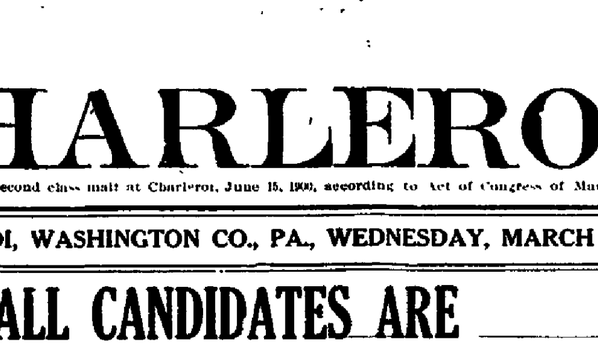
Harry Vetter	501,304
Dale Jolliffe	488,222
George Collins	161,076

Who'll win the first grand prize? This question is asked many times a day.

Have you votes enough to win it? You have only a short time to work for votes and it will take lots of votes to win the prize of your choice.

The positions which the various contestants now occupy in the list may not be considered as a true indication of the positions they will occupy at the close of the final count, for it is commonly known that all contestants have been witholding their special ballots to a greater or less extent in the hope of misleading their opponents and carrying away the prizes by storm at the close.

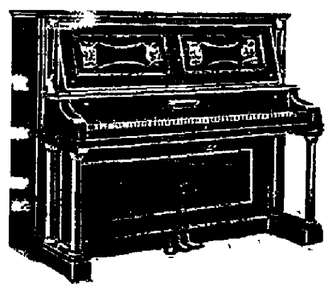
FIRST GRAND PRIZE
THIS IS YOURS IF YOU HAVE THE VOTES.



Reo Automobile "runabout." Price $500.

Will either of these belong to you?

Second Grand Prize, $400 Boston Piano.



Purchased of S. L. Woodward, McKean Avenue.

The contestants are all hustling. But they forgot to add anything to their score published in yesterday's issue.

Contest Closes Saturday night at 9 p. m. Stay busy to the last.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED ON BODY OF INFANT FOUND IN RIVER

In the opinion of Dr. Edwin McKay, who yesterday afternoon performed the autopsy upon the body of the infant found in the river between here and Speers on Monday morning, the child was still-born. Coroner James J. Heffran will hold an inquest this evening at the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley, but apparently there is not much to be learned.

Dr. McKay said that apparently the child had been in the water about a week. There is no clue as yet to the identity of the child's mother. There will be few witnesses heard this evening at the inquest.

V. E. Reeves accompanied Harry Scurfield, the Mitchell automobile agent, on a trip to Carmichaels and other Greene county places yesterday.

Miss Eunice Ramsey has gone to Masontown, where she will spend two weeks with relatives.

ADULT FEDERATED CLASSES WILL HOLD OPEN MEETING

Arranging for First Big Session Since Organization on April 5

WILL SECURE A SPEAKER

Round Table Will Also be One of the Principal Features of the Meeting

The social and entertainment committee of the Federation of Adult Bible classes of the Charleroi distirct is making arrangements for the first open meeting of the Federation, to be held at Christ Lutheran church, April 5. It is planned to have a speaker for the occasion, and to hold a sort of round table to end with a social hour.

The Monessen and Belle Vernon Men's Federated classes will be invited to attend. The object of the meeting will be to get all men interested in the Federated movement, and in Bible study, also that they may hear the constitution, and witness the internal workinge of the organization.

Special committees have been appointed from the social entertainment committee to arrange for the affair. Rev. J. T. Hackett and D. N. Hall have been named to secure the speaker; Rev. C. E. Frontz, J. G. Pentz, and A. P. Barnum to prepare for the round table, and Dr. H. J. Repman, Jesse K. Johnston, and J. K. Dunlap, to arrange for the social part. The men named above comprise the entire social and entertainment committee with Dr. H. J. Repman, chairman.

Another Wreck on Redstone Branch

Coal Train Gets all Mussed Up and Stops Traffic for an Hour and Half.

A wreck of a coal train on the lone track of the Redstone branch of the Monongahela division, P. R. R. bothered railroad employes much last night besides doing other damage. The wreck knocked traffic sidewise for awhile, among other evils holding back Train No. 167, north bound, due in Charleroi at 5:53, an hour and a half.

ZELT AFTER COUNCILMEN

Declares Colleagues are Serving Illegally in Washington.

MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES

Alleged That Some of City Fathers Have Been Furnishing Material for Borough.

Along with his flat refusal to resign from the Washington council after that body had asked him to, Jacob Zelt, Jr., has preferred charges against five other councilmen, alleging misdemeanor in office. Zelt asserts the five are members of firms which have furnished supplies to the borough and consequently are not entitled to sit in council.

It is probable the matter will reach the courts, as council has refused to begin an investigation at present.

The trouble in the Washington council started on organzation night some weeks ago, when Zelt, as one of the tellers named by President John F. Curan, counted the votes cast for borough policemen.

The election was contested by one of the defeated candidates, and as a result a special meeting of council was held. An open vote on policemen produced figures much different from the count recorded by Zelt. After the meeting Zelt announced his intention of resigning, but he has reconsidered.

NO TRUTH IN THE RUMOR THAT CHANGE IS TO BE EFFECTED

Officials of Hussey-Binns Company Deny That Newton Will Retire.

JUST BACK FROM THE WEST

It was this morning denied by officials of the Hussey-Binns Shovel factory that there had been any change in the local plant management as has been persistently rumored the past day or two. Superintendent Frank Newton recently returned from a trip to the Western coast, where he went for his health.

The plant is running in full now, with about 130 or 135 men employed. Orders are coming in rapidly, and the prospects are that it will continue full turn.

What of the Bribers?

Much stress is laid upon the culpability of the Pittsburg councilmen who accepted bribes for voting in favor of certain measures. These as a rule deserve all the condemnation they have been getting, but what of the bribers, the persons who deliberately sought to corrupt the representatives of the people for personal gain? Are not these a thousand times more culpable than the councilmen who accepted a small sum of money for voting as perhaps they might have voted anyhow? What about those banks that paid over one hundred thousand dollars in bribes to the councilmen for the privilege of becoming depositories of the city's money? Are they safe institions to be permitted to continue to do business of trust and responsibility with funds not their own? In criminal ethics it is universally conceded that a person who will bribe will steal and plunder, and commit murder if necessary, to achieve selfish and personal ends.

It is presumed that these principles in the Pittsburg crime will come in for attention as soon as their dupes have been dipsosed of. These are the ones who deserve no leniency, and all should be prosecuted and punished to the full extent of the law. The Pittsburg court has compelled every grafting councilman now holding office to resign. The stockholders of the implicated banks should do likewise. Every official of those institutions who does not get a prison sentence should be compelled to retire. Those officials of these institutions who were not directly implicated are guilty of negligence and should be ousted. They are not safe to be entrusted with the keeping of other people's money.

A Flimsy Foundation.

Those who attempt to oppose Republicanism in Pennsylvania on the issue of "Cannonism," will find but a flimsy foundation on which to base their opposition. "Cannonism," that is, the arbitrary power of the Republican Speaker in Congress, which was alleged to have been used to stifle independent action in Congress, has been eliminated. The manner in which it was accomplished shows that it was but a trifling matter on which to attempt a campaign issue, and the little incident last week has served to kill a vast amount of campaign thunder.

Congress represents the will of the people. To the majority party is naturally charged the conduct of procedure, but as the other party assumes the self-imposed duty of opposing and hampering what the other side attempts to do, it is not to be expected that the rules adopted would suit everybody. When they become objectionable to a majority of the Representatives, the majority has the power to change them, which it proceeded to do in this case. That much accomplished, the so-called issue of "Cannonism" is eliminated, and no campaign capital can be made along that line.

That legislation has been influenced by the Speaker to serve private ends, is largely a matter of opinion, but whatever abuses may have crept in cannot be charged to the policy of the Republican party any more than can the whole people of Pittsburg be charged with being morally corrupt because some of the councilmen they elected were susceptible to bribery. Speaker Cannon's arbitrary power of the past, which was abridged as soon as the majority in Congress saw fit to take action, is a most flimsy issue on which to conduct a campaign of opposition.

A Town Conscience.

In a stirring address before the Monessen Board of Trade recently, H. Dallas McCabe, one of the progressive citizens, brought forcibly to mind a line of action that would redound to the improvement and betterment of our hustling sister town across the river. His theme was "Town Conscience," a policy that must be adopted everywhere before the civic spirit can predominate.

In general terms Mr. McCabe characterized the "town conscience" as a condition where every citizen has the welfare of his town at heart, and works for the esthetic appearance as well as for the moral and material welfare of the community. A person with a town conscience will not throw waste, rubbish or litter in the streets, nor permit the same to accumulate in his own back yard or about his premises in any way. He will do all in his power to beautify his own premises and add to the general effect of the town. He will join and work for movements to clean up and keep in order the streets and all public places; to provide suitable playgrounds for the children; to plant trees along the streets; to induce property holders to cultivate flowers and ornamental shrubs, and to add to the beauty of the town in general. These are some of the essentials of a "town conscience" as outlined by Mr. McCabe, which is a good thing for every citizen and resident of any town to cultivate.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The Washington Observer says that Washington county for many years was independent. So it was—independent of any outside interference on the part of the people when it came to naming the candidates for county, State and National office.

Pittsburg councilmen and former councilman are uneasy nowadays over this graft business. A little uneasiness some time ago, would have come handy.

The Sharon man who is the proud possessor of two extra ribs missed his calling. He should have been an Adam.

Duty is too often outlined by what the fellow in the next pew puts in the collection basket.

A man's opinion of the woman's fashion page of the daily paper is pretty much the same as his wife's opinion of his sporting page.

It is a safe bet that a man can play poker, when nobody wants to play with him.

Honor is that strange thing which most people lack, and which grafting councilmen delight in speaking about.

There is one consolation in the Philander Knox, Jr., elopement. He had enough feeling for his chums to not set them up against an elaborate menu, by inviting them to a big reception.

Andrew Carnegie refers to that "worthless dross called money," in speaking of coin. If more people had some of that dross, they would feel better.

The up-to-date burglar of tomorrow will not be the bank thief, or the bread thief. He will steal fine pictures, and be called a connoisseur.

PHIDELAH RICE DELIGHTS IN FINAL NUMBER

The last number of the Citizen's Entertainment course, was given at School Hall last night when Phidelah Rice appeared to give his presentation of "David Garrick," that stirring comedy drama of English life by T. W. Robertson.

Mr. Rice's interpretation of this charming heart-interest play was such that a person could almost see the very figures he was impersonating upon the stage. None of the characters were overdone. The strong scenes and climaxes he portrayed with exceptional talent, and showed that he had given years of careful and conscientious study to the work.

A number of books were put in circulation last night by the Entertainment course committee, in accord with the free library plan announced some time ago. A meeting of the course guarantors will be held at the store room of T. F. Lindsay, on Fifth street next Thursday evening.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS IN NORWAY.

Miss Guia Krog, a Pioneer, Tells What Her Sex Has Gained.

Miss Guia Krog, a prominent Norwegian delegate to the quinquennial meeting of the National Council of Women [illegible] this month, said to a reporter:

"The women of Norway have had municipal suffrage and have been eligible for all municipal offices for the last nine years and next fall will exercise their rights as full voters for the first time. Though we speak of it as universal suffrage, we don't really have the same rights to the ballot as the men have at present.

"Before 1898 the men of Norway had suffrage with the taxation qualification. On that date they got universal suffrage. Next fall the women of Norway will begin to vote just about on the same terms that the men did before 1898, with the advantage that married women can vote on the taxes paid by their husbands and unmarried women on those paid by their parents That is better than the men started with, you see.

"The women of Norway have served on juries for upward of five years. Often a woman is elected as foreman. We serve in all sorts of cases, just as the men do. They look upon us women of Norway as being interested in the welfare of our country aside from our sex. We have no children's court as yet. In its place we have a body of officers, men and women, elected by the municipal authorities to look after the welfare of the children.

"There may be women elected to parliament next fall, but I hardly expect it. You see, with us the Conservative party is very much stronger than the Liberals or the Social Democrats. Our ablest women, those who might be elected to parliament, belong to the Liberals. I hardly expect them to get in.

"One thing we who have worked for suffrage in Norway have noticed—that a good many women held back, refused us their assistance, but now that the work is accomplished they come forward with enthusiasm and are eager to take part in it. I believe the same will be found to be true here in the United States."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A cup of cold water before retiring and a cup of hot water in the morning before breakfast work like magic as a cure for indigestion.

Almond meal is preferred by some women to soap and acts as a pleasing alternative to soap at any time. This softens, cleanses and whitens the skin.

The most easily digested foods which contain the greatest amount of nourishment and are free from acids and starches are those best adapted to the child's needs.

A glass of warm water before breakfast is a tonic for the whole system. If the complexion is in need of improvement try squeezing half a lemon into the water just before drinking.

Have as nice towels as you can afford, but pay less attention to the quality than to their cleanliness. There is little use of careful scrubbing if a half soiled towel is used for drying.

Sties almost invariably indicate a weakened condition of the system, but external applications relieve and better the lids. A pomade for the purpose is made from four grams white vaseline and five centigrams each of white precipitate and oil of birch. This is applied at night. A drop of belladonna on a lump of sugar is an old fashioned remedy that is taken when symptoms of a sty are first manifested. At the same time the lids are to be bathed in warm elder flower water.

A skin whitening preparation that can be easily made at home is in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, a half tablespoonful of powdered borax and a half pint of rose water. Let the mixture stand three days, strain and add a half ounce of alcohol. The addition of the alcohol prevents the souring which is the drawback to so many oatmeal preparations. If preferred, instead of using all oatmeal it can be mixed with half this bulk of almond meal. Either of these washes makes the skin feel soft and smooth if rubbed on the hands or face after washing.

The biggest problem of all to the woman who would keep her good looks is the matter of wrinkles. A generation ago she gave up without a fight, but since the coming of massage and simple devices of all sorts she dares no longer indulge in such disfiguration as long as it may be prevented. One woman's simple cure-all is the cream bath. She dabs her face with hot water until it is heated thoroughly, then applies the cream fresh from the dairy, letting it dry on her face. She puts on more cream, massaging it into the wrinkles particularly. It is then washed with warm water and lightly powdered

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

A Remedy that Costs Nothing if it Fails to do as it is Claimed.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science and in connection with Beta Naphthol, also a powerful antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the air of its nutriment, and thus creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpine is a well known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to disease. Yet it is not a coloring matter or dye.

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpine, combined with pure alcohol because of its cleansing and antiseptic qualities. It makes the scalp healthy, nourishes the hair, revitalizes the roots, supplies hair nourishment and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except of course where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the folicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Carroll.

Will Probated.

The will of John W. Hudspith, late of Charleroi, has been admitted to probate. The decedent wills his entire estate to his widow, Priscella Hudspith, who is also named executrix.

PLEASURE MANIFEST IN COYLE SHOW

The bill for the last half of this week beginning Thursday evening, will have some extraordinary features to commend itself to the patrons of the Coyle Theatre. The house is being thoroughly renovated, and new scenery is being ordered, also new pattern electric fans in conjunction with a sterlizing plant, which will make the Coyle one of the most likeable amusement place in the Monongahela valley.

Next Saturday there will be the usual souvenir matinee at which performance each lady and child will be presented with a box of candy.

SAYS HIS ASSAILANT THREATENED TO KILL THE ENTIRE FAMILY

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace S. E. Wilson last night, Harry Sphar was held for court on a charge of aggravated assault and battery with threats to kill, on information made by John Dessing. Dessing is the man who nearly had his ear severed from blows, it is clamed, at the hands of Sphar. Sphar was taken to Washington this afternoon.

Dessing at the hearing claimed that he and Sphar had had a quarrel the night previous to the trouble and that Sphar had threatened to kill him and his entire family. This threat, he alleged, Sphar tried to carry into effect yesterday morning.

A WOMAN DUELIST.

By HAROLD OTIS.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association]

Serane, fencing master at Paris when dueling was not only more common but more serious there than now prepared the way for the killing of many men by teaching his art to the Parisians. It was generally understood that a pupil of Serane was sure to kill his man. If his lessons were really so valuable it must have been partly owing to a special confidence given the pupil and a corresponding loss of nerve on the part of the opponent. At any rate, those who knew Serane had taught usually had little trouble in settling their disputes without recourse to the foil.

One evening Serane was sauntering down the boulevard and on reaching the opera concluded to go in and attend the performance. One of the singers on the stage was a woman named Maupin. Though she was not singing an important part, Serane's gaze was constantly fixed upon her. Why one woman's personnel will appeal to one man when another woman is the chief attraction for other men is an insoluble problem. We only know that the fact exists. In Maupin, Serane saw that which appealed to him strongly. At the close of the performance he sent his card to her and received an invitation to call upon her behind the scenes.

"M. Serane," she said as soon as he appeared, "I deem myself fortunate in your desiring to make my acquaintance. You are well known to me by reputation as a splendid teacher of fencing, and I wish you to give me lessons."

Serane found the singer as fascinating in the greenroom as on the stage. She was young, fairly good looking and about her was a certain abandon which when not too pronounced is attractive to men. Serane fell desperately in love with her, and she permitted him to [illegible] her in order that she might get out of him all the skill in fencing he was capable of imparting. She was an apt pupil and, taught by a lover, became the most skillful fencer that had ever been turned out from his academy.

No sooner had Maupin acquired the art than she began to attract attention as a duelist. At first her affair with the sword leaked out as mere rumors. One report was that a young nobleman who had been devoted to her had fallen by her hand; that, disguised in men's apparel, she had insulted him and killed him without his knowing of her identity. Again it was rumored that she had fought and killed another woman. That she was applying her skill in affairs of this kind there was no doubt, though some that were attributed to her had no foundation in fact.

She liked to have Serane with her both on account of his devotion and because his presence gave her additional eclat as a swordswoman. But he came to understand that she craved blood or the excitement of taking it and he endeavored to dissuade her from her course.

One night Serane and Maupin were dancing at a students' ball in the Latin quarter when Maupin jostled the belle of the evening, and upon the girl's looking at her resentfully Maupin was rude to her. The insulted girl was dancing with an intimate friend of Serane, Gustav Grammont. Grammont, supported by two other men, ordered Maupin to leave the room. She said that she would do so provided they would go with her. They did so, and before morning she had killed them all.

Serane in this affair refused to support Maupin. Indeed, she was obliged to call on another man to act as her second. The day after she had killed Grammont and the others Serane received a note from her accusing him of cowardice in having deserted her in the hour of need and challenging him to mortal combat. Stung to the quick by her ingratitude, he sent a hasty reply accepting the challenge.

The man who had been a lover and had taught the object of his love to kill people, filled with a mad remorse resolved to kill her, thus punishing her and stopping her career of bloodshed. They met in his academy, the doors of which had been bolted and the windows screened. Maupin stepped out on to the floor with as much composure as a mother would administer food to a babe. She looked at Serane with a stony stare and said:

"Serane's pupils always kill their opponents."

There can be no doubt but the woman said this to fill her antagonist with a superstitious dread that would take away his nerve. If it had any such effect, Serane gave no evidence of it. A revulsion of feeling had come over him. Had this not occurred, had he opposed Maupin as a lover, as she had presumed he would, there would have been no chance for him. As it was it was a fair fight between them.

But with Serane in full possession of his faculties there could not be a fair fight between them. As soon as Maupin saw that she had lost her power over him she knew that, if he chose, her punishment had come. The moment they crossed swords she saw in Serane's eyes not only a determination to kill her if he could, but a perfect confidence of being able to do so.

Singularly enough, this woman who had conquered men with men's weapons no sooner discovered that her womanly influence over the man who had furnished her with her power had ceased than every particle of her confidence deserted her. She gave her opponent a mute look of appeal. He answered it with a sword thrust to the heart.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE SAYS SOMETHING ABOUT BASEBALL

Automobile Permits May be Had by Applying to Committee.

DON'T KNOCK THE UMPIRE

Will Mother Gray's Sweet powders cure a severe case of the "Charleroi Horse?" Ask D. M. McCloskey, Esq.

Kent, it's reported you are trying for a fielding position. Are you going to drive cows this summer?

Note—Did the rats gnaw Dr. McKay's famous and reliable old barrel stave? Better select a more suitable place to winter out your athletic armorey, Dr.

How many "pinch" hitters do we want?

Permits for positions of automobiles on the field can be had by writing to the committee on clothes lines and sleeve holders. This committee consists of Hugh Fergus, Esq, Dr. J. M. McNaughton, Joshua Weatherboard, Roley Hormell, Emanuel Rainintheface, George Cooper and Willie Lonesome. Beter secure your permits at an early date and avoid a compressed rush.

Fred Peiper is using an iron ball to get his arm in condition.

Earl Piper looks like a comer for the Washington Avenue Presbyterians.

Geo. Kline will round into shape for the Presbyterians. Don't knock the umpire, George.

If Floyd Chalfant makes as many hits for the Baptists as he made at the M. E. supper on St. Patrick's Day, you can count on him receiving offers from the Big League.

Eddie Hastings claims if he can get his eye as it was a few years ago he will use the same old bat he used when he sent the pelicle over the Mason and Dixon line. Eddie has the bat at the bank, but they never did find the ball.

Miss Ella Bake of Washington avenue is spending the day with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw of Clairton.

Mrs. J. W. Bake and son Earl of Hazelwood returned home after a few days' visit with relatives and friends in Charleroi.

SEVERAL MORE ARE IMPLICATED IN THE BRIBERY CHARGES

The big sensation in Pittsburg caused by the confession of Capt. John H. Klein in regard to the grafting councilmen, and the wholesale confessions of the same, has caused much interest and comment in Charleroi, where many of the guilty ones are known. Yesterday nine more councilmen and ex-councilmen confessed to receiving bribes, and more are expected. The grand jury has returned a big batch of indictments, as over 40 names have been furnished who accepted bribes.

Capt. Klein, who caused the sensation by giving the proceeding away after he had been tried, convicted and sentenced to three years and a half in the penitentiary, is well known all along the river. The captain used to run Sunday boat excursions up the river which were noted for the free and easy manner in which they were conducted.

Miss Mollie Craven and sister, Miss Anna Craven of Beallsville, who is her guest, spent yesterday in Pittsburg.

Nothing Common.

William had become engaged to a "very respectable" girl of "very respectable family" indeed, and he carefully kept from her the fact that one of his brothers had once been a boarder at his majesty's expense in the county jail. But, alas, a little bird carried the item one day to the young lady's horrified ears, and when next she met William his heart sank to his feet, for he instinctively knew that she knew.

"I have heard," said the lady stiffly, "that your brother has been in prison!"

"Yes, yes, I am sorry to say he has, Mary. But he wasn't in for anything common, not like getting drunk or fighting a policeman or sneaking things. No, John forged a check, he did!"—London Tit-Bits.

Salting a Diamond Mine.

A man in South Africa while walking one day over his property with a party of prospectors suggested that they assay some of the soil. In the search that ensued eight rough diamonds were found, and offers began to fly through the air at a rapid rate for the land, when the host's wife called out to her husband, "Why, John, where are the other two?" The sequel to the story is left to the imagination.—Boston Record.

Very Quiet.

Lady Visitor—That new girl of yours seems very nice and quiet. Mistress of the House—Yes; she's very quiet. She doesn't even disturb the dust when she's cleaning the room.

Amos' Anodyne.

"We always wondered a little how Amos Dore and his wife got along really," Aunt Em Macomber said frankly. "Some in the neighborhood said they'd never overheard a single loud or cross word on either side, but Lije Daniels always stuck to it that Amos was as miserable at home as a man could be.

"He never spoke right out till Amos died and Mis' Dore went back up country to her folks. Then he let out."

"What?" queried Aunt Em's visitor.

"Well, Amos worked logging alongside of Lije every winter, and summers they hayed together most always, and it seems," said Aunt Em impressively, "that Amos complained of his shoes hurting him about all the time. Finally Lije asked why he wore tight shoes.

"'Why don't you get a pair big enough?' says Lije one day.

"'Well, I'll tell you,' Amos says. 'When I wear tight shoes I forget all my other troubles.'"—Youth's Companion.

A Safety Holder.

The person who delights in a fountain pen, but is always in fear of the ink spilling out, now finds comfort in a safety holder. This is in nickel and in wood and costs very little.

It can be attached to any fountain pen and keeps it from spilling a drop of ink.

She Makes a Suggestion.

"How beautiful and clean the horizon looks," said Polly as on the second day out she came up on deck and threw herself down in the steamer chair beside me.

"Well it ought to be," said I, looking up from my book. "The captain has been sweeping it with his glass for the past six hours."

"That reminds me," said Polly, turning two very grave brown eyes upon me. "Did you remember to bring that vacuum cleaner along with you, as I suggested?"

"No," said I unwarily. "I remembered to forget it, however. What on earth does anybody want with a vacuum cleaner at sea?"

"It was only for you, dear," said Polly. "I thought you would like to have your brains massaged with it occasionally."—New York Times.

These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.

HE WANTED A PARROT.

The Use to Which the Old Man Would Put the Green Bird

We are all striving for two things—success and happiness. To get these many of us are struggling for a fortune. In striving to attain it desires many of us need a green parrot. In a little town in Iowa, in the midst of a great stretch of timber and meadow, a man built a castle. Some thing over $25,000 he spent in building a home. It was finished within with the finest polished woods. The foundation was of brownstone, the window of French plate, and every detail was carried out in the best manner. He had grown to be an old man. He had always lived in a modest cottage of six rooms. This mansion had fifteen. On one side there was a magnificent stone arch over the paved drive that led up to the house. He had just completed showing a friend over the place and reached this point when the visitor exclaimed:

"Well, John, you ought to be happy. This is a magnificent home. Here is everything one could wish for."

"Waal," replied the old man, who was a cattle buyer, "a fellow always wants something else."

"What on earth could you want?" was the query.

"A green parrot to hang up thar in the drive."

"Why a green parrot?"

"So every morning afore I drive out he would say, 'John, you're a darned fool.'"—Cleveland Press.

Couldn't Turn It.

The eye of little Willie's teacher was sad and sorry, for, notwithstanding that he was her favorite pupil, he stood before her convicted of the heinous offense of a theft of candy from a fellow pupil. It was a first offense, however, and she did not desire to inflict corporal punishment. A moral lecture she thought would meet the case.

"Here is what Willie," she concluded, "what these temptations can be resisted if determination is used. Always turn a deaf ear to temptation."

Little Willie looked troubled.

"But, teacher," he answered, "I ain't got a deaf ear."

The Way Out.

"Think, love!" said Mrs. Gobsa Goble. "I ordered a dinner gown, and that tiresome dressmaker has sent me a traveling suit."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" Gobsa Golde demanded.

"The only thing is for us to go abroad again," she sighed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WATERLESS BATHING.

A Good Rub and an Air Bath a Substitute For the Tub.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. It is popularly supposed that this frequent bathing is essential to health.

"This is quite untrue," says the Medical Journal. "We have seen fine and vigorous men among the habitants of Canada who had never taken a bath in their lives. Were the truth known, many thousands of our fellow citizens probably know nothing of the alleged benefits of the tub, though maintaining excellent average health.

"Such people do not present the fresh and pleasing appearance of the frequent bather, however long lived they may be. Is not, however, much of the benefit attributed to the water in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air?

"The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance, and, although water may be dispensed with, closing the pores to air would result in speedy asphyxiation. The historic instance of the boy who impersonates John the Baptist in a mediaeval procession and whose body was covered with gold leaf with rapidly fatal results is proof.

"The ice cold bath is a superstition: it is a pastime for the abnormally vigorous, not desirable for the average civilized man. A bath not too cold is really an agreeable stimulant as well as being a luxury. The feeling of well being after a bath can hardly be obtained in any other way, and the rapid multiplication of tubs in hotels and private residences, soon to approach one to the individual, show how they are appreciated.

"Unhappy persons, however, whose travels in the provinces or into the desert may temporarily deprive them of sufficient water for bathing may find a substitute that will at least afford a part of their accustomed enjoyment. The body may be energetically rubbed with a brush or coarse Turkish towel and afterward exposed to the air for fifteen minutes or so. The accustomed feeling of vigor will follow and the process will be found by the uninitiated to be astonishingly cleansing."

A STRANGE TRIBE.

The Touaregs, to Whom Timbuktu Owes Its Origin.

A recent explorer, journeying from Tripoli across the great desert of Sahara, gives account of much opposition to his progress offered by the various wandering tribes. Much of the most serious trouble was caused by the Touaregs, a strange band of people supposed by some to have descended from the crusaders. These dwellers of the desert are distinguished by the wearing of veils, a custom which has caused much discussion. Says Felix Dubois in "Timbuktu the Mysterious:"

As you travel an atmosphere of secrecy hovers over the country, and you remember that these mysterious Touaregs are still momentarily its oppressors and masters.

These people keep their eyes from the excessive glow of the desert by two veils, one rolled round the temples and falling down in front, the other reaching from the nostrils to the edge of the clothing, covering the lower part of the face. Savants seek all manner of farfetched origins to explain this custom. Hygiene is obviously the only motive. This is proved by their own statements and by the sobriquet, "mouths for flies," which they give to all who do not wear the veils.

These veils are never removed, even at mealtimes. They are so much a part of their wearers that any one deprived of such covering is unrecognized by his friends and relatives. If a number of the tribe should be killed in battle, no one could identify them if they had not on their veils.

Theft is the Touareg's natural form of industry. "This word," says a native proverb, "is like water fallen upon sand, never to be found again." The Sudanese term them as "thieves hyenas and abandoned of God." Yet to this strange tribe Timbuktu owes its origin.

The Force of Habit.

One of the campers had done something peculiarly idiotic, and the dean said, "Dick reminds me of Thomas' colt."

"What about Thomas' colt?" asked Dick cheerfully.

"Why," the dean responded readily, "where I lived in Maine when I was a boy an old man named Thomas raised horses. He once put out to pasture a colt which had been fed from its birth in a box stall and watered at the trough in the yard.

"The pasture lay across a small river, and in the middle of the day the colt swam the stream to go up to the barnyard for a drink of water."

English as Spoken in London.

I must confess in passing that after a lifetime spent upon English I had nearly as much difficulty with that language "as she is spoke" upon the streets of London by the common people as I had with French and German in Paris and Berlin. The most popular sensational journal of London is the Daily Mail. They call it the Dily Mile. Many other words are equally unrecognizable.—London Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

A Never Failing Supply.

The fond husband was seeing his wife off with the children for their vacation in the country. As she got into the train he said, "But, my dear, won't you take some fiction to read?"

"Oh, no!" she responded sweetly. "I shall depend upon your letters from home."—London Tatler.

Too Much of a Tonic.

When Mr. Chinchin returned home from Chinchin & Chinchin's the other day he found his wife lying worn out upon the sofa.

"Nothing wrong, I hope!" he exclaimed.

"I'm afraid I shall have to stop that tonic the doctor prescribed for Tommy," Mrs. Chinchin faintly murmured.

"Why? Isn't he any better?" asked Chinchin.

"Oh, yes, but I think the tonic must be too invigorating. Why, he has slid down the banisters six times this morning, broken the hall lamp, two vases, a water jug and a looking glass, tied a tin can to the cat's tail and scribbled his name on the drawing room paper. Of course it's very gratifying, but I don't feel I could stand much more, so I think I—I'll stop the tonic."

Telling the Time.

One of the accurate ways of telling the time is to use your hand as an hour mark. Nothing simpler. All farmers not possessed of watches or clocks and who have some practical notions of common utilities not invented by man, but given to us by the Creator, know the rule. It is necessary to keep in mind the hour of sunrise and sunset and to hold the arm straight out from the shoulder, with the hand at right angles, bending from the wrist forward. If the sun sets at 7 o'clock and is still high in the heavens close one eye and make three measures of the width of the palm near the thumb. Each measure means one hour. Three measures mean three hours, so that the time thus obtained is 7 less 3, or 4 o'clock. With practice you can beat the average watch.—New York Press.

Etiquette.

In our republican atmosphere old fashioned etiquette has ceased to be necessary, but the word "etiquette" is suggested whenever one hears the phrase "that's the ticket," for "etiquette" is French for "ticket," and its present English signification sprang from the old custom of distributing tickets or etiquettes which contained the ceremonies, etc., to be observed at any formal event, exactly like our word "program."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving and Some Charleroi People Know How to Save It.

Many Charleroi people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Charleroi citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. William McBride, 508 Lincoln avenue, Charleroi, Pa. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family for several years. Our first experience with them took place while we were living in Beaver Falls. A member of our family was at that time suffering from dull pains in the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills proved of great benefit and there was no return attack of the trouble for some time. About a month ago, Doan's Kidney Pills were again procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and they proved as beneficial as before. From our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I do not hesitate to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

STOLEN HORSE FOUND ON ROAD EARLY THIS MORNING

Taken While Young Couple Were Attending Dancing School

HAD BEEN DRIVEN HARD

Well Nigh Exhausted When Caught by I. E Meyers, Near Robt. Gibson's Farm

After having been stolen from where it was hitched on Washington avenue near Fifth street and driven hard a part of the night, a valuable horse, belonging to Jehu Cooper of Fallowfield township, was found standing on the road near the farm of Robert Gibson near Bentleyville this morning, well nigh exhausted. The horse had been driven into Charleroi last night by Mr. Cooper's son, Lynn, and his sister, Miss Nanna, and tied, while they attended dancing school. The horse and buggy were both taken.

The couple had no knowledge of their horse and buggy being gone until they left dancing school late in the evening. After discovering their loss a search was made over town, but without results. Officer Alva Osborne was notified but could do nthing. Finally Cooper and his sister were driven home by James Blythe of Washington avenue in the latter's rig.

The animal was discovered this morning by I. E. Meyers, and at once taken home. The theft is attributed to some people living in the neighborhood of Bentleyville, who it is alleged have committed other similar offenses during the past winter.

Willing to Take Step Which Other Politicians Shied at.

THINGS HE WANTS TO DO

T. L. Kennedy of New Brighton, Beaver county, a former member of the General Assembly, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Twenty-fourth district, composed of the counties of Washington, Beaver and Lawrence. This is the district represented by Congressman J. K. Tener of Charleroi, who is also a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Kennedy is a prominent manufacturer in the Beaver valley. His platform is said to cover many subjects, the chief one of which is an attack on "Cannonism."

IMPERIAL NOW RUNNING FULL

Better Records Being Made This Year at Bottle Plant.

PAY WILL TOTAL $175,000

Two Tanks in Steady Operation, and Orders Are Rapidly Coming In.

The Imperial Bottle factory will this year, is expected, much surpass the record made last year in production of ware and amount of money paid out to employes. The total pay for the several months since the starting of the fall fire has surpassed that of the previous year for the same length of time, and the production has correspondingly increased.

At the first of May, 1909, the total pay had reached the $100,000 mark. This year April 1 will see that climax. The entire pay during the nine months of operation in 1909 was $155,000. This year, if everything goes right from now on, the total pay by the time the plant closes for the summer July 1, will have been $175,000.

The Imperial plant is now working full time, with about 300 men and boys employed. There are two tanks in operation, for the manufacture of two colors of glass, flint and amber. The factory has been in steady operation since September of last year, when it started following the summer close down, and from the way orders are coming in the run will continue.

REAL ESTATE AGENT IS AFTER EVIDENCE REGARDING HOUSES

One of the real estate agencies in town is being annoyed by an anonymous letter writer, who accuses the agency of renting a builing for immoral purposes, and demanding that the alleged nuisance be abated. The agency, with the aid of the police, has investigated and found no evidence of the charge, but the letters continue. Both the agency and the police will be thankful for any evidence that will substantiate the charges.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED ON BODY OF INFANT FOUND IN RIVER

In the opinion of Dr. Edwin McKay, who yesterday afternoon performed the autopsy upon the body of the infant found in the river between here and Speers on Monday morning, the child was still-born. Coroner James J. Heffran will hold an inquest this evening at the undertaking rooms of Correll and Crowley, but apparently there is not much to be learned.

Dr. McKay said that apparently the child had been in the water about a week. There is no clue as yet to the identity of the child's mother. There will be few witnesses heard this evening at the inquest.

ADULT FEDERATED CLASSES WILL HOLD OPEN MEETING

Arranging for First Big Session Since Organization on April 5

WILL SECURE A SPEAKER

Round Table Will Also be One of the Principal Features of the Meeting

The social and entertainment committee of the Federation of Adult Bible classes of the Charleroi district is making arrangements for the first open meeting of the Federation, to be held at Christ Lutheran church, April 5. It is planned to have a speaker for the occasion, and to hold a sort of round table to end with a social hour.

The Monessen and Belle Vernon Men's Federated classes will be invited to attend. The object of the meeting will be to get all men interested in the Federated movement, and in Bible study, also that they may hear the constitution, and witness the internal workings of the organization.

Special committees have been appointed from the social entertainment committee to arrange for the affair. Rev. J. T. Hackett and D. N. Hall have been named to secure the speaker; Rev. C. E. Frontz, J. G. Pentz, and A. P. Barnum to prepare for the round table, and Dr. H. J. Repman, Jesse K. Johnston, and J. K. Dunlap, to arrange for the social part. The men named above comprise the entire social and entertainment committee with Dr. H. J. Repman, chairman.

ZELT AFTER COUNCILMEN

Declares Colleagues are Serving Illegally in Washington.

MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES

Alleged That Some of City Fathers Have Been Furnishing Material for Borough.

Along with his flat refusal to resign from the Washington council after that body had asked him to, Jacob Zelt, Jr., has preferred charges against five other councilmen, alleging misdemeanor in office. Zelt asserts the five are members of firms which have furnished supplies to the borough and consequently are not entitled to sit in council.

It is probable the matter will reach the courts, as council has refused to begin an investigation at present.

The trouble in the Washington council started on organzation night some weeks ago, when Zelt, as one of the tellers named by President John F. Curan, counted the votes cast for borough policemen.

The election was contested by one of the defeated candidates, and as a result a special meeting of council was held. An open vote on policemen produced figures much different from the count recorded by Zelt. After the meeting Zelt announced his intention of resigning, but he has reconsidered.

NO TRUTH IN THE RUMOR THAT CHANGE IS TO BE EFFECTED

Officials of Hussey-Binns Company Deny That Newton Will Retire.

JUST BACK FROM THE WEST

It was this morning denied by officials of the Hussey-Binns Shovel factory that there had been any change in the local plant management as has been persistently rumored the past day or two. Superintendent Frank Newton recently returned from a trip to the Western coast, where he went for his health.

The plant is running in full now, with about 130 or 135 men employed. Orders are coming in rapidly, and the prospects are that it will continue full turn.

What of the Bribers?

Much stress is laid upon the culpability of the Pittsburg councilmen who accepted bribes for voting in favor of certain measures. These as a rule deserve all the condemnation they have been getting, but what of the bribers, the persons who deliberately sought to corrupt the representatives of the people for personal gain? Are not these a thousand times more culpable than the councilmen who accepted a small sum of money for voting as perhaps they might have voted anyhow? What about those banks that paid over one hundred thousand dollars in bribes to the councilmen for the privilege of becoming depositories of the city's money? Are they safe institions to be permitted to continue to do business of trust and responsibility with funds not their own? In criminal ethics it is universally conceded that a person who will bribe will steal and plunder, and commit murder if necessary, to achieve selfish and personal ends.

It is presumed that these principles in the Pittsburg crime will come in for attention as soon as their dupes have been dipsosed of. These are the ones who deserve no leniency, and all should be prosecuted and punished to the full extent of the law. The Pittsburg court has compelled every grafting councilman now holding office to resign. The stockholders of the implicated banks should do likewise. Every official of those institutions who does not get a prison sentence should be compelled to retire. Those officials of these institutions who were not directly implicated are guilty of negligence and should be ousted. They are not safe to be entrusted with the keeping of other people's money.

A Flimsy Foundation.

Those who attempt to oppose Republicanism in Pennsylvania on the issue of "Cannonism," will find but a flimsy foundation on which to base their opposition. "Cannonism," that is, the arbitrary power of the Republican Speaker in Congress, which was alleged to have been used to stifle independent action in Congress, has been eliminated. The manner in which it was accomplished shows that it was but a trifling matter on which to attempt a campaign issue, and the little incident last week has served to kill a vast amount of campaign thunder.

Congress represents the will of the people. To the majority party is naturally charged the conduct of procedure, but as the other party assumes the self-imposed duty of opposing and hampering what the other side attempts to do, it is not to be expected that the rules adopted would suit everybody. When they become objectionable to a majority of the Representatives, the majority has the power to change them, which it proceeded to do in this case. That much accomplished, the so-called issue of "Cannonism" is eliminated, and no campaign capital can be made along that line.

That legislation has been influenced by the Speaker to serve private ends, is largely a matter of opinion, but whatever abuses may have crept in cannot be charged to the policy of the Republican party any more than can the whole people of Pittsburg be charged with being morally corrupt because some of the councilmen they elected were susceptible to bribery. Speaker Cannon's arbitrary power of the past, which was abridged as soon as the majority in Congress saw fit to take action, is a most flimsy issue on which to conduct a campaign of opposition.

A Town Conscience.

In a stirring address before the Monessen Board of Trade recently, H. Dallas McCabe, one of the progressive citizens, brought forcibly to mind a line of action that would redound to the improvement and betterment of our hustling sister town across the river. His theme was "Town Conscience," a policy that must be adopted everywhere before the civic spirit can predominate.

In general terms Mr. McCabe characterized the "town conscience" as a condition where every citizen has the welfare of his town at heart, and works for the esthetic appearance as well as for the moral and material welfare of the community. A person with a town conscience will not throw waste, rubbish or litter in the streets, nor permit the same to accumulate in his own back yard or about his premises in any way. He will do all in his power to beautify his own premises and add to the general effect of the town. He will join and work for movements to clean up and keep in order the streets and all public places; to provide suitable playgrounds for the children; to plant trees along the streets; to induce property holders to cultivate flowers and ornamental shrubs, and to add to the beauty of the town in general. These are some of the essentials of a "town conscience" as outlined by Mr. McCabe, which is a good thing for every citizen and resident of any town to cultivate.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The Washington Observer says that Washington county for many years was independent. So it was—independent of any outside interference on the part of the people when it came to naming the candidates for county, State and National office.

Pittsburg councilmen and former councilman are uneasy nowadays over this graft business. A little uneasiness some time ago, would have come handy.

The Sharon man who is the proud possessor of two extra ribs missed his calling. He should have been an Adam.

Duty is too often outlined by what the fellow in the next pew puts in the collection basket.

A man's opinion of the woman's fashion page of the daily paper is pretty much the same as his wife's opinion of his sporting page.

It is a safe bet that a man can play poker, when nobody wants to play with him.

Honor is that strange thing which most people lack, and which grafting councilmen delight in speaking about.

There is one consolation in the Philander Knox, Jr., elopement. He had enough feeling for his chums to not set them up against an elaborate menu, by inviting them to a big reception.

Andrew Carnegie refers to that "worthless dross called money," in speaking of coin. If more people had some of that dross, they would feel better.

The up-to-date burglar of tomorrow will not be the bank thief, or the bread thief. He will steal fine pictures, and be called a connoisseur.

PHIDELAH RICE DELIGHTS IN FINAL NUMBER

The last number of the Citizen's Entertainment course, was given at School Hall last night when Phidelah Rice appeared to give his presentation of "David Garrick," that stirring comedy drama of English life by T. W. Robertson.

Mr. Rice's interpretation of this charming heart-interest play was such that a person could almost see the very figures he was impersonating upon the stage. None of the characters were overdone. The strong scenes and climaxes he portrayed with exceptional talent, and showed that he had given years of careful and conscientious study to the work.

A number of books were put in circulation last night by the Entertainment course committee, in accord with the free library plan announced some time ago. A meeting of the course guarantors will be held at the store room of T. F. Lindsay, on Fifth street next Thursday evening.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS IN NORWAY.

Miss Guia Krog, a Pioneer, Tells What Her Sex Has Gained.

Miss Guia Krog, a prominent Norwegian delegate to the quinquennial meeting of the National Council of Women [illegible] this month, said recently to a reporter:

"The women of Norway have had municipal suffrage and have been eligible for all municipal offices for the last nine years and next fall will exercise their rights as full voters for the first time. Though we speak of it as universal suffrage, we don't really have the same rights to the ballot as the men have at present.

"Before 1898 the men of Norway had suffrage with the taxation qualification. On that date they got universal suffrage. Next fall the women of Norway will begin to vote just about on the same terms that the men did before 1898, with the advantage that married women can vote on the taxes paid by their husbands and unmarried women on those paid by their parents. That is better than the men started with, you see.

"The women of Norway have served on juries for upward of five years. Often a woman is elected as foreman. We serve in all sorts of cases, just as the men do. They look upon us women of Norway as [illegible] the welfare of our country aside from our sex. We have no children's court as yet. In its place we have a body of officers, men and women elected by the municipal authorities to look after the welfare of the children.

"There may be women elected to parliament next fall, but I hardly expect it. You see, with us the Conservative party is very much stronger than the Liberals or the Social Democrats. Our ablest women, those who might be elected to parliament, belong to the Liberals. I hardly expect them to get in.

"One thing we who have worked for suffrage in Norway have noticed—that a good many women held back, refused us then assistance, but now that the work is accomplished they come forward with enthusiasm and are eager to take part in it. I believe the same will be found to be true here in the United States."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A cup of cold water before retiring and a cup of hot water in the morning before breakfast work like magic as a cure for indigestion.

Almond meal is preferred by some women to soap and acts as a pleasing alternative to soap at any time. This softens, cleanses and whitens the skin.

The most easily digested foods which contain the greatest amount of nourishment and are free from acids and starches are those best adapted to the child's needs.

A glass of warm water before breakfast is a tonic for the whole system. If the complexion is in need of improvement try squeezing half a lemon into the water just before drinking.

Have as nice towels as you can afford, but pay less attention to the quality than to their cleanliness. There is little use of careful scrubbing if a half soiled towel is used for drying.

Sties almost invariably indicate a weakened condition of the system, but external applications relieve and better the lids. A pomade for the purpose is made from four grams white vaseline and five centigrams each of white precipitate and oil of birch. This is applied at night. A drop of belladonna on a lump of sugar is an old fashioned remedy that is taken when symptoms of a sty are first manifested. At the same time the lids are to be bathed in warm elder flower water.

A skin whitening preparation that can be easily made at home is in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, a half tablespoonful of powdered borax and a half pint of rose water. Let the mixture stand three days, strain and add a half ounce of alcohol. The addition of the alcohol prevents the souring which is the drawback to so many oatmeal preparations. If preferred, instead of using all oatmeal it can be mixed with half this bulk of almond meal. Either of these washes makes the skin feel soft and smooth if rubbed on the hands or face after washing.

The biggest problem of all to the woman who would keep her good looks is the matter of wrinkles. A generation ago she gave up without a fight, but since the coming of massage and simple devices of all sorts she dares no longer indulge in such disfiguration as long as it may be prevented. One woman's simple cure-all is the cream bath. She dabs her face with hot water until it is heated thoroughly, then applies the cream fresh from the dairy, letting it dry on her face. She puts on more cream, massaging it into the wrinkles particularly. It is then washed with warm water and lightly powdered.

Nail Polish In Tubes.

The latest toilet novelty is a nail polish which comes in a tube and can be pressed out like artists' pigments. The polish itself is of a consistency between a cream and a liquid, easy to put on.

The case is a neat little one, nickel plated, with a top that pulls off, and furnished with an ejector to force out the enamel.

Both Willing.

"He said he'd rather go to jail than pay his divorced wife alimony."

"Did she let him go?"

"Yes; she said she'd rather see him save his money behind the bars than spend it over them."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Farmers should eat more oatmeal.

Although the farmer of today is able to buy almost anything he wants to wear or to eat he isn't paying enough attention to food values when it comes to his own table.

If he has been watching the extensive researches and experiments on the question of the best human food for muscle and brain he will heed the advice from all sides to "eat more Quaker Oats"

Quaker Oats is mentioned because it is recognized in this country and Europe as the best of all oatmeals. Feeding farm hands on Quaker Oats means getting more work out of them than if you feed them on anything else.

The Old Story

Long time ago, when the animals were getting their freedom suits news was sent around that every one was to come to the great man's castle to be fitted out The squirrel invited the rabbit to go for a set of teeth but he said wait The cat ask him to go for claws, but the rabbit said there is plenty of time But when the other animals came back with claws and teeth he came to his senses, and made a run for the castle only to find there was nothing to fit him, like some people of today who put off having their eyes properly fitted with glasses when it costs them nothing to have them examined at

FLOATING STORES.

Merchandise Steamers of the Muskoka Lake Country In Ontario.

Among the interesting features of life in the Muskoka lake country in Ontario, are the floating stores A good sized steam vessel is fitted out with every imaginable item of merchandise that might be required makes a tour of an assigned chain of lakes once each week On a certain hour of a certain day the boat is expected at the different resorts and summer homes and enough merchandise must be bought at each to tide over until the next trip of the floating store

Upon stepping on board the store boats, says a writer in Popular Mechanics the purchaser approaches a counter with scales and cash drawer as in any other kind of store Behind the counter are shelves, on which are displayed such articles as may tempt the eye Behind these shelves is the entrance to the storeroom and hold, in which more merchandise is stored Each article has its place and the storekeeper can find it in a moment

Sometimes isolated farms on the lakes are not worth stopping at every trip so a flag is flown when stores are near when the signal flag is down and some member of the family rows out and makes the purchases

The French Academy

The French academy is one of the five academies and the most eminent constituting the Institute of France It was founded in 1635 by Cardinal Richelieu and reorganized in 1816 It is composed of forty members the new member elected by the remaining thirty-nine members for life after personal application and the submission of the nomination to the head of the state It meets twice weekly and is "the highest authority on everything pertaining to the niceties of the French language—to grammar, rhetoric and poetry and the publication of the French classics" The chief officer is the secretary who has a life tenure of his position A chair in the academy is the highest ambition of most literary Frenchmen

BUSINESS METHODS.

The Value of Imagination as an Industrial Asset.

Let us assume that tomorrow you decide to embark in the business of manufacturing a toilet soap to compete with some of the well known makers It is important that it should have a significant or attractive name But, right at the outset you discover that it is almost impossible to secure any satisfactory name for a new soap Its color, transparency and clearness suggest the title or "amber soap" Yes surely "amber soap" does have an attractive sound But you cannot use the word 'amber for you find that this is one of a list of twenty-four possible names for a toilet soap preempted by registration as a protectionary measure years ago by one of the leading American soap makers They have covered over a hundred names in the past quarter of a century willingly paying the registration charges of $25 for every title Of course they do not intend to use them They register them to fight off competition believing (and here is the important point) that no clever business man would embark in the enterprise of manufacturing a new soap when from the start he was prevented from employing the powerful weapon of imagination in giving it a suitable name If an establishment like this directed by some of the ablest heads in the business world believes that it can discourage competition by simply depriving the would be competitor of the appeal to the imagination in the naming of his soap how great a value must we attach to imagination in business—Lorin F Deland in Atlantic

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Burning oil is spread by water. To extinguish it throw down flour sand or earth The idea is to prevent the oil spreading

Fried chicken with cream sauce and corn fritters is an old dish, but one that too seldom finds a substantial place in the home.

A faint scent of violets is imparted to handkerchiefs by adding a small piece of orris root to the water in which they are boiled

Many old gilt picture frames can be much improved by being enameled white or even in colors to match the paint work For instance, black and white drawings hung on a brown paper wall may well be placed in scarlet frames

When hanging curtains which are draped in a low room put the cornice to which the curtains are to be fastened close to the ceiling, even if the window is lower down, as it gives the effect of greater height to the room The curtains meeting at the top will conceal the wall

A SOUTH SEA ROMANCE.

The Mutiny Long Ago on the Bounty. a British Man-of-wa.

Who has not heard of the mutiny of the Bounty? The romance of it still lingers from one end of the Pacific to the other. The descendants of the mutineers of the British man of war and their dusky wives are living and bear English names made famous or infamous, more than a century ago.

The British man-of-war had gone to Tahiti The commander, Blythe, was harsh and cruel to his men The women of Tahiti loved the fair skinned sailors and sought to hide them from Blythe, their oppressor, but they were captured, and the ship sailed away, but only to return When it returned in command was Fletcher Christian, midshipman and a score of mutineers The brute Blythe and his loyal companions had been set adrift in an open boat. Marvelous to relate, after traversing thousands of miles of open ocean they reached the Australian coast Here they found a haven of refuge at a British outpost For twenty years all trace of Fletcher Christian and his companions was lost although [illegible] was sent to Tahiti by the British government

Each of the mutineers save the remorseful Fletcher Christian took unto himself a wife. As it meant death to their husbands to live in Tahiti they helped the men they loved to man the boat that bore them away to seek some desert island After sailing for many days in the extreme southern tropical sea the rock of Pitcairn arose before them

Twenty years later a British merchantman sighted by chance the lone rock in the southern Pacific and sent a boat ashore To the astonishment of the crew dusky men and women ran down to the beach to welcome them in their own tongue and claimed to be "English" Only one old man among them Adams of pure British blood still survived He was found, Bible in hand teaching in the little Sunday school which he had built and where he had educated the children of the colony and taught them the tenets of the Christian faith

When the news reached England a British man of war was sent for the last of the mutineers of the Bounty Aboard was a king's pardon for Adams so that, after all he died a British subject, surrounded by his dusky children and grandchildren The colony was then removed from the faraway southern isle to Tahiti but homesickness overcame its members and they returned to the verdant rock.—New Idea Magazine

How Tobacco Got Its Name.

The origin of the word tobacco is not definitely settled Oviedo, one of the early Spanish chroniclers, says it was named after a Y shaped instrument which was commonly used as a snuffing tube The two prongs were placed in the nose and fumes of the powdered leaf were inhaled This was called "tobaco" which was the name given to the plant. On the contrary, one of the islands of the West Indies is said to have furnished the name. It is asserted that tobacco was first taken into Spain in 1558 by Fernandez, a physician who had been sent by Philip II of Spain to investigate the products of Mexico It next reached Portugal, was soon introduced into France by the French ambassador, Jean Nicot, and sent to the Portuguese court in 1559 When he returned to his home he presented some of the seed and leaves to Queen Catherine de' Medici, and the scientific name of the plant was thereafter designated as "nicotine" in his honor

A CRUMB OF BREAD.

Its Effect on the Tip of a Vivacious Woman's Nose

"Isn't it terrible," said the society woman, "what a tiny thing can prove a tragedy to poor, self taunting mankind! A speck almost invisible in the eye of an athlete may discompose him utterly and render him as helpless as a baby And a lost hairpin or the breaking of a buckle may transform the most smartly groomed woman into an object of amusement to all observers.

"At a dinner I attended not long ago a lady sitting opposite me lodged in some inexplainable manner a large crumb of bread directly on the end of her nose without being conscious of the fact, and there it remained The ludicrous effect was beyond the power of words to describe or of human nobles to resist. She is an extremely vivacious woman, generous with smiles and little bows and motions of her head, and as she chatted gayly with those about her it was impossible for us to restrain our unseemly mirth. Naturally she thought this was caused by her remarks, and she continued to toss off jests with a lightsome air We were all in agony, but no one summoned courage to tell her, each of us preferring to leave that kindly act to another After a time she addressed a remark to her husband, who sat next to her and had been devoting himself to the lady at his other side He turned to look at his wife, and in an instant a clever touch of his napkin removed the distorting fragment, but I can never forget it as long as I live."—New York Press.

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

A Remedy that Costs Nothing if it Fails to do as it is Claimed.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science and in connection with Beta Naphthol, also a powerful antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the air of its nutriment, and thus creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpine is a well known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to disease. Yet it is not a coloring matter or dye.

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpine, combined with pure alcohol because of its cleansing and antiseptic qualities. It makes the scalp healthy, nourishes the hair, revitalizes the roots, supplies hair nourishment and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except of course where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the folicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store. John W. Carroll.

PLEASURE MANIFEST IN COYLE SHOW

The bill for the last half of this week beginning Thursday evening, will have some extraordinary features to commend itself to the patrons of the Coyle Theatre. The house is being thoroughly renovated, and new scenery is being ordered, also new pattern electric fans in conjunction with a sterlizing plant, which will make the Coyle one of the most likeable amusement place in the Monongahela valley.

Next Saturday there will be the usual souvenir matinee at which performance each lady and child will be presented with a box of candy.

SAYS HIS ASSAILANT THREATENED TO KILL THE ENTIRE FAMILY

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace S. E. Wilson last night, Harry Sphar was held for court on a charge of aggravated assault and battery with threats to kill, on information made by John Dessing. Dessing is the man who nearly had his ear severed from blows, it is clamed, at the hands of Sphar. Sphar was taken to Washington this afternoon.

Dessing at the hearing claimed that he and Sphar had had a quarrel the night previous to the trouble and that Sphar had threatened to kill him and his entire family. This threat, he alleged, Sphar tried to carry into effect yesterday morning.

A WOMAN DUELIST.

By HAROLD OTIS.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

Serane, fencing master at Paris when dueling was not only more common but more serious there than now prepared the way for the killing of many men by teaching his art to the Parisians. It was generally understood that a pupil of Serane was sure to kill his man. If his lessons were really so valuable it must have been partly owing to a special confidence given the pupil and a corresponding loss of nerve on the part of the opponent. At any rate, those whom Serane had taught usually had little trouble in settling their disputes without recourse to the foil.

One evening Serane was sauntering down the boulevard and on reaching the opera concluded to go in and attend the performance. One of the singers on the stage was a woman named Maupin. Though she was not singing an important part, Serane's gaze was constantly fixed upon her [illegible] peal to one man when another woman is the chief attraction for other men is an insoluble problem. We only know that the fact exists. In Maupin, Serane saw that which appealed to him strongly. At the close of the performance he sent his card to her and received an invitation to call upon her behind the scenes.

"M. Serane," she said as soon as he appeared, "I deem myself fortunate in your desiring to make my acquaintance. You are well known to me by reputation as a splendid teacher of fencing, and I wish you to give me lessons."

Serane found the singer as fascinating in the greenroom as on the stage. She was young, fairly good looking and about her was a certain abandon which when not too pronounced is attractive to men. Serane fell desperately in love with her, and she permitted him to make her in order that she might get out of him all the skill in fencing he was capable of imparting. She was an apt pupil and, taught by a lover, became the most skillful fencer that had ever been turned out from his academy.

No sooner had Maupin acquired the art than she began to attract attention as a duelist. At first her affair with the sword leaked out as mere rumors. One report was that a young nobleman who had been devoted to her had fallen by her hand; that, disguised in men's apparel, she had insulted him and killed him without his knowing of her identity. Again it was rumored that she had fought and killed another woman. That she was applying her skill in affairs of this kind there was no doubt, though some that were attributed to her had no foundation in fact.

She liked to have Serane with her both on account of his devotion and because his presence gave her additional eclat as a swordswoman. But he came to understand that she craved blood or the excitement of taking it, and he endeavored to dissuade her from her course.

One night Serane and Maupin were dancing at a students' ball in the Latin quarter when Maupin jostled the belle of the evening, and upon the girl's looking at her resentfully Maupin was rude to her. The insulted girl was dancing with an intimate friend of Serane, Gustav Grammont. Grammont, supported by two other men, ordered Maupin to leave the room. She said that she would do so provided they would go with her. They did so, and before morning she had killed them all.

Serane in this affair refused to support Maupin. Indeed, she was obliged to call on another man to act as her second. The day after she had killed Grammont and the others Serane received a note from her accusing him of cowardice in having deserted her in the hour of need and challenging him to mortal combat. Stung to the quick by her ingratitude, he sent a hasty reply accepting the challenge.

The man who had been a lover and had taught the object of his love to kill people, filled with a mad remorse resolved to kill her, thus punishing her and stopping her career of bloodshed. They met in his academy, the doors of which had been bolted and the windows screened. Maupin stepped out on to the floor with as much composure as a mother would administer food to a babe. She looked at Serane with a stony stare and said:

"Serane's pupils always kill their opponents."

There can be no doubt but the woman said this to fill her antagonist with a superstitious dread that would take away his nerve. If it had any such effect, Serane gave no evidence of it. A revulsion of feeling had come over him. Had this not occurred, had he opposed Maupin as a lover, as she had presumed he would, there would have been no chance for him. As it was it was a fair fight between them.

But with Serane in full possession of his faculties there could not be a fair fight between them. As soon as Maupin saw that she had lost her power over him she knew that, if he chose, her punishment had come. The moment they crossed swords she saw in Serane's eyes and felt, a determination to kill her if he could, but a perfect confidence of being able to do so.

Singularly enough, this woman who had conquered men with men's weapons no sooner discovered that her womanly influence over the man who had furnished her with her power had ceased than every particle of her confidence deserted her. She gave her opponent a mute look of appeal. He answered it with a sword thrust to the heart.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE SAYS SOMETHING ABOUT BASEBALL

SEVERAL MORE ARE IMPLICATED IN THE BRIBERY CHARGES

The big sensation in Pittsburg caused by the confession of Capt. John H. Klein in regard to the grafting councilmen, and the wholesale confessions of the same, has caused much interest and comment in Charleroi, where many of the guilty ones are known. Yesterday nine more councilmen and ex-councilmen confessed to receiving bribes, and more are expected. The grand jury has returned a big batch of indictments, as over 40 names have been furnished who accepted bribes.

Capt. Klein, who caused the sensation by giving the proceeding away after he had been tried, convicted and sentenced to three years and a half in the penitentiary, is well known all along the river. The captain used to run Sunday boat excursions up the river which were noted for the free and easy manner in which they were conducted.

Miss Mollie Craven and sister, Miss Anna Craven of Beallsville, who is her guest, spent yesterday in Pittsburg.

Nothing Common.

William had become engaged to a "very respectable" girl of "very respectable family" indeed, and he carefully kept from her the fact that one of his brothers had once been a boarder at his majesty's expense in the county jail. But, alas, a little bird carried the item one day to the young lady's horrified ears, and when next she met William his heart sank to his feet, for he instinctively knew that she knew.

"I have heard," said the lady stiffly, "that your brother has been in prison!"

"Yes, yes, I am sorry to say he has, Mary. But he wasn't in for anything common, not like getting drunk or fighting a policeman or sneaking things. No, John forged a check, he did!"—London Tit-Bits.

Salting a Diamond Mine.

A man in South Africa while walking one day over his property with a party of prospectors suggested that they assay some of the soil. In the search that ensued eight rough diamonds were found, and offers began to fly through the air at a rapid rate for the land, when the host's wife called out to her husband, "Why, John, where are the other two?" The sequel to the story is left to the imagination.—Boston Record.

Very Quiet.

Lady Visitor—That new girl of yours seems very nice and quiet. Mistress of the House—Yes; she's very quiet. She doesn't even disturb the dust when she's cleaning the room.

Amos' Anodyne.

"We always wondered a little how Amos Dore and his wife got along really," Aunt Em Macomber said frankly. "Some in the neighborhood said they'd never overheard a single loud or cross word on either side, but Lije Daniels always stuck to it that Amos was as miserable at home as a man could be.

"He never spoke right out till Amos died and Mis' Dore went back up country to her folks. Then he let out."

"What?" queried Aunt Em's visitor.

"Well, Amos worked logging alongside of Lije every winter, and summers they hayed together most always, and it seems," said Aunt Em impressively, "that Amos complained of his shoes hurting him about all the time. Finally Lije asked why he wore tight shoes.

"'Why don't you get a pair big enough?' says Lije one day.

"'Well, I'll tell you,' Amos says. 'When I wear tight shoes I forget all my other troubles.'"—Youth's Companion.

A Safety Holder.

The person who delights in a fountain pen, but is always in fear of the ink spilling out, now finds comfort in a safety holder. This is in nickel and in wood and costs very little.

It can be attached to any fountain pen and keeps it from spilling a drop of ink.

She Makes a Suggestion.

"How beautiful and clear the horizon looks," said Polly as on the second day out she came up on deck and threw herself down in the steamer chair beside me.

"Well it ought to be," said I, looking up from my book. "The captain has been sweeping it with his glass for the past six hours."

"That reminds me," said Polly, turning the [illegible] to me. "Did you remember to bring that vacuum cleaner along with you, as I suggested?"

"No," said I unwarily. "I remembered to forget it, however. What on earth does anybody want with a vacuum cleaner at sea?"

"It was only for you, dear," said Polly. "I thought you would like to have your brains massaged with it occasionally."—New York Times.

Automobile Permits May be Had by Applying to Committee.

DON'T KNOCK THE UMPIRE

Will Mother Gray's Sweet powders cure a severe case of the "Charleroi Horse?" Ask D. M. McCloskey, Esq.

Kent, it's reported you are trying for a fielding position. Are you going to drive cows this summer?

Note—Did the rats gnaw Dr. McKay's famous and reliable old barrel stave? Better select a more suitable place to winter out your athletic armory, Dr.

How many "pinch" hitters do we want?

Permits for positions of automobiles on the field can be had by writing to the committee on clothes lines and sleeve holders. This committee consists of Hugh Fergus, Esq., Dr. J. M. McNaughton, Joshua Weatherboard, Roley Hormell, Emanuel Rainintheface, George Cooper and Willie Lonesome. Beter secure your permits at an early date and avoid a compressed rush.

Fred Peiper is using an iron ball to get his arm in condition.

Earl Piper looks like a comer for the Washington Avenue Presbyterians.

Geo. Kline will round into shape for the Presbyterians. Don't knock the umpire, George.

If Floyd Chalfant makes as many hits for the Baptists as he made at the M. E. supper on St. Patrick's Day, you can count on him receiving offers from the Big League.

Eddie Hastings claims if he can get his eye as it was a few years ago he will use the same old bat he used when he sent the pelicle over the Mason and Dixon line. Eddie has the bat at the bank, but they never did find the ball.

Miss Ella Bake of Washington avenue is spending the day with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Bradshaw of Clairton.

Mrs. J. W. Bake and son Earl of Hazelwood returned home after a few days' visit with relatives and friends in Charleroi.

Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.

HE WANTED A PARROT.

The Use to Which the Old Man Would Put the Green Bird

We are all striving for two things—success and happiness. To get these many of us are [illegible] for a fair—fortune. In striving to attain our desires many of us need a green parrot. In a little town in Iowa, in the midst of a great stretch of timber and meadow, a man built a castle. Something over $25,000 be spent in building a home. It was finished within with the finest polished woods. The foundation was of brownstone, the window of French plate, and every detail was carried out in the best manner. He had grown to be an old man. He had always lived in a modest cottage of six rooms. This mansion had fifteen. On one side there was a magnificent stone arch over the paved drive that led up to the house. He had just completed showing a friend over the place and reached this point when the visitor exclaimed:

"Well, John, you ought to be happy. This is a magnificent home. There is everything one could wish for."

"Waal," replied the old man, who was a cattle buyer, "a fellow always wants something else."

"What on earth could you want? [illegible]

"A green parrot to hang up thar in the drive."

"Why a green parrot?"

"So every morning afore I drive out he would say, 'John, you're a darn fool!'"—Cleveland Press.

Couldn't Turn It.

The eye of little Willie's teacher was sad and sorry, for, notwithstanding that he was her favorite pupil, he stood before her convicted of the heinous charge of a theft of candy from a fellow pupil. It was a first offense, however, and she did not desire to inflict corporal punishment. A moral lecture she thought would fit the case.

"Bear in mind, Willie," she concluded, "that there temptation can be resisted if determination is used. Always turn a deaf ear to temptation."

Little Willie's lip trembled.

"But, teacher," he answered, "I ain't got a deaf ear."

The Way Out.

"Think, love!" said Mrs. Gobsa Golde. "I ordered a dinner gown, and that threadbare dressmaker has sent me a traveling suit."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" Gobsa Golde demanded.

"The only thing to do is to go abroad again," she sighed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WATERLESS BATHING.

A Good Rub and an Air Bath a Substitute For the Tub.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. It is popularly supposed that this frequent bathing is essential to health.

"This is quite untrue," says the Medical Journal. "We have seen fine and vigorous men among the habitants of Canada who had never taken a full bath in their lives. Were the truth known, many thousands of our fellow citizens probably know nothing of the alleged benefits of the tub, though maintaining excellent average health.

"Such people do not present the fresh and pleasing appearance of the frequent bather, however long lived they may be. Is not, however, much of the benefit attributed to the water in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air?

"The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance, and, although water may be dispensed with closing the pores to air would result in speedy asphyxiation. The historic instance of the boy who impersonated John the Baptist in a mediaeval procession and whose body was covered with gold leaf with rapidly fatal results is proof.

[illegible] it is a pastime for the abnormally vigorous, not desirable for the average civilized man. A bath not too cold is really an agreeable stimulant as well as being a luxury. The feeling of well being after a bath can hardly be obtained in any other way, and the rapid multiplication of tubs in hotels and private residences, soon to approach one to the individual, show how they are appreciated.

"Unhappy persons, however, whose travels in the provinces or into the desert may temporarily deprive them of sufficient water for bathing may find a substitute that will at least afford a part of their accustomed enjoyment. The body may be energetically rubbed with a brush or coarse Turkish towel and afterward exposed to the air for fifteen minutes or so. The accustomed feeling of vigor will follow and the process will be found by the uninitiated to be astonishingly cleansing."

A STRANGE TRIBE.

The Touaregs, to Whom Timbuktu Owes Its Origin.

A recent explorer, journeying from Tripoli across the great desert of Sahara, gives account of much opposition to his progress offered by the various wandering tribes. Much of the most serious trouble was caused by the Touaregs, a strange band of people supposed by some to have descended from the crusaders. These dwellers of the desert are distinguished by the wearing of veils, a custom which has caused much discussion. Says Felix Dubois in "Timbuktu the Mysterious:"

As you travel an atmosphere of secrecy hovers over the country, and you remember that these mysterious Touaregs are still momentarily its oppressors and masters.

These people keep their eyes from the excessive glow of the desert by two veils, one rolled round the temples and falling down in front, the other reaching from the nostrils to the edge of the clothing, covering the lower part of the face. Savants seek all manner of farfetched origins to explain this custom. Hygiene is obviously the only motive. This is proved by their own statements and by the sobriquet, "mouths for flies," which they give to all who do not wear the veils.

These veils are never removed, even at mealtimes. They are so much a part of their wearers that any one deprived of such covering is unrecognized by his friends and relatives. If a number of the tribe should be killed in battle, no one could identify them if they had not on their veils.

Theft is the Touareg's natural form of industry. "This word," says a native proverb, "is like water fallen upon sand, never to be found again." The Sudanese term them as "thieves, hyenas and abandoned of God." Yet to this strange tribe Timbuktu owes its origin.

The Force of Habit.

One of the campers had done something peculiarly idiotic, and the dean said, "Dick reminds me of Thomas' colt."

"What about Thomas' colt?" asked Dick cheerfully.

"Why," the dean responded readily, 'where I lived in Maine when I was a boy an old man named Thomas raised horses. He once put out to pasture a colt which had been fed from its birth in a box stall and watered at the trough in the yard.

"The pasture lay across a small river, and in the middle of the day the colt swam the stream to go up to the barnyard for a drink of water."

English as Spoken In London.

I must confess in passing that after a lifetime spent upon English I had nearly as much difficulty with that language "as she is spoke" upon the streets of London by the common people as I had with French and German in Paris and Berlin. The most popular sensational journal of London is the Daily Mail. They call it the Dilly Mile. Many other words are equally unrecognizable.—London Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

A Never Failing Supply.

The fond husband was seeing his wife off with the children for their vacation in the country. As she got into the train he said, "But, my dear, won't you take some fiction to read?"

"Oh, no!" she responded sweetly. "I shall depend upon your letters from home."—London Tatler.

Too Much of a Tonic.

When Mr. Chinchin returned home from Chinchin & Chinchin's the other day he found his wife lying worn out upon the sofa.

"Nothing wrong, I hope!" he exclaimed.

"I'm afraid I shall have to stop that tonic the doctor prescribed for Tommy," Mrs. Chinchin faintly murmured.

"Why? Isn't he any better?" asked Chinchin.

"Oh, yes, but I think the tonic must be too invigorating. Why, he has slid down the banisters six times this morning, broken the hall lamp, two vases, a water jug and a looking glass, tied a tin can to the cat's tail and scribbled his name on the drawing room paper. Of course it's very gratifying, but I don't feel I could stand much more, so I think I—I'll stop the tonic."

Telling the Time.

One of the accurate ways of telling the time is to use your hand as an hour mark. Nothing simpler. All farmers not possessed of watches or clocks and who have some practical notions of common utilities not invented by man, but given to us by the Creator, know the rule. It is necessary to keep in mind the hour of sunrise and sunset and to hold the arm straight out from the shoulder, with the hand at right angles, bending from the wrist forward. If the sun sets at 7 o'clock and is still high in the heavens close one eye and make three measures of the width of the palm near the thumb. Each measure means one hour. Three measures mean three hours, so that the time thus obtained is 7 less 3, or 4 o'clock. With practice you can beat the average watch.—New York Press.

Etiquette.

In our republican atmosphere old fashioned etiquette has ceased to be necessary, but the word "etiquette" is suggested whenever one hears the phrase "that's the ticket," for "etiquette" is French for "ticket," and its present English signification sprang from the old custom of distributing tickets or etiquettes which contained the ceremonies, etc., to be observed at any formal event, exactly like our word "program."

An Alibi.

"Oh, that's an antiquated idea," observed the simple mug. "Nowadays it's a game of skill."—Philadelphia Record.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving and Some Charleroi People Know How to Save It.

Many Charleroi people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Charleroi citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. William McBride, 508 Lincoln avenue, Charleroi, Pa. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family for several years. Our first experience with them took place while we were living in Beaver Falls. A member of our family was at that time suffering from dull pains in the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills proved of great benefit and there was no return attack of the trouble for some time. About a month ago, Doan's Kidney Pills were again procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and they proved as beneficial as before. From our experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I do not hesitate to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
